High school and middle school students in the Hmong Heritage Speakers courses will present performances and highlight what they have learned for their families and the community at the second annual Student Showcase. The showcase will feature students from Bullard, Duncan Polytechnical, Edison, Fresno, Hoover, McLane, Roosevelt and Sunnyside high schools and Computech and Gaston middle schools. Authentic Hmong food will be served, compliments of the students and their families.

“We are excited to celebrate the hard work of our students who have focused on the Hmong language this past year,” said Superintendent Bob Nelson. “This is one of the many ways we recognize the diversity of our students, and encourage them to prepare for a global economy.”
