Bullard Region holds Student Leadership Conference

What: Leadership students from elementary schools in the Bullard High School region gather to hear inspiring speakers and make connections.

When: Tuesday, Nov. 19, 2019
8:30 a.m.-1:30 p.m.

Where: Bullard High School
5445 N. Palm Ave. (93704)

This year marks the eighth annual Bullard Region Elementary Student Leadership Conference. Students from all the elementary schools in the Bullard region will come together for the conference, with the theme, “Individually Unique, Together Complete!” Students will hear from several speakers, including Instructional Superintendent Brian Wall, who will focus on leadership and the importance of working together.

Participating students will strengthen their leadership skills through fun activities and connect with other student leaders. The conference is a great opportunity for students to focus on the same goals as a region and tour their future high school campus.

“The Bullard region has an outstanding tradition of gathering its elementary student leaders to hear the same message and strive for the same goals, while also celebrating the diversity of students,” said Superintendent Bob Nelson.
