Enrollment Open for Transitional Kindergarten and Kindergarten

Enroll Now for Dual Immersion Programs

Registration began March 1 for enrollment in transitional kindergarten and kindergarten, and can be done online. Online Registration

Families are urged to enroll their kindergarten students now for the 2022-23 school year so that there are no delays in students starting school on the first day of the academic year, Monday, Aug. 15. By learning about registration now, parents can be prepared for enrollment requirements and have time to complete them.

Transitional kindergarten (TK) is open to all students turning 5 between Sept. 2 and Feb. 2. Children who are 5 on or before Sept. 1 qualify for kindergarten.

The district is also pleased to offer dual immersion language programs at select schools. Through dual immersion, students learn to speak, read and write in two languages. Programs are available in Spanish and Hmong.

Fresno Unified offers preschool for 3- and 4-year-old students. Enrollment opens on April 4 for Fresno Unified’s high-quality early learning programs. Call the Early Learning Department at (559) 457-3416 or visit the Early Learning web page for more information.

Children’s brains and bodies develop rapidly in the first 5 years of life. This means early childhood is the best time to establish a strong foundation for learning.

The Early Learning Department of Fresno Unified School District knows that all adults in a child’s life can help create the nurturing and engaging connections children need. The department supports this with child-centered environments and high-quality educational programs that value and respect the language, culture, and needs of all students, families, staff and communities.

Connection to District Goals: "Fresno Unified School District – Where students, families, and staff are valued and empowered to achieve their greatest potential."

El cerebro y el cuerpo de los niños se desarrollan rápidamente en los primeros 5 años de vida. Esto significa que la primera infancia es el mejor momento para establecer una base sólida para el aprendizaje.

El Departamento de Aprendizaje Temprano del Distrito Escolar Unificado de Fresno sabe que todos los adultos en la vida de un niño pueden ayudar a crear las conexiones enriquecedoras y atractivas que los niños necesitan. Meet the Excellence in Education Winners

Superintendent Bob Nelson and Misty Her, deputy superintendent, made surprise visits on Feb. 14 and 15 to the winners of the 2022 Excellence in Education awards. Selected from among 10 finalists in each category:

- Administrator: Eugene Reinor, vice principal at Scandinavian Middle School
- Certificated Elementary School: Isabel Mayoral, teacher on special assignment from Wilson Elementary School
- Certificated Middle School: Kristin Cosentino from Sequoia Middle School
- Certificated High School: Registered nurse Liz Torres from Rata High School serving as interim manager of Health Services
- Classified Employee: Dawn Gardner, office manager for J.E. Young Academic Center and the Alternative Education Department

Excellence in Education winners are traditionally announced at the Excellence in Education dinner. However, with the pandemic leading to postponement of the dinner, winners were surprised with the news at their work sites to ensure they could participate in the Fresno County Educator of the Year process.

Despite this wrinkle, the Excellence in Education dinner scheduled for May 25 will be an opportunity to celebrate all finalists. It will be a night of commemorating finalists’ enthusiasm, resilience and unwavering dedication to positively impacting the lives of students. All finalists will receive an award, be greeted by district leaders, and will be part of a fun video compilation filled with portraits and quotes from our finalists.

Tickets will go on sale on April 25 on Eventbrite. The dinner will be held at the Hoover High School Event Center, with doors opening at 5:30 p.m.

Connection to District Goals: "Fresno Unified School District – Where students, families, and staff are valued and empowered to achieve their greatest potential."

Learn More about Early Learning Opportunities

Hello #FUSDFamily! Our March issue is filled with great information about our early learning options. Early learning is one of my main priorities as superintendent, as we know how incredibly valuable these early years are to our students’ success. Folks often talk about how students fall behind once in school, when in fact many of our students start kindergarten already far behind because they did not have access to high-quality preschool and transitional kindergarten. At Fresno Unified, we have some great options for your children to start their education early and get ahead!

Starting March 1, enrollment for transitional kindergarten and kindergarten opened! For children who turn 5 years old by Sept. 1, 2022 you will enroll your child in kindergarten. For children who turn 5 years old between Sept. 2 and Feb. 2, 2023 you can enroll your child in transitional kindergarten. If your child turns 3 or 4 years old on or before Dec. 1, 2022 you can enroll your child in our preschool programs. To learn more and enroll online, you can head to fresnounified.org/enroll/.

We also have amazing dual immersion early learning opportunities at several of our schools in Spanish and Hmong. We just highlighted our language learning project last month. Check out the video here. Take a look at our website to learn more about our dual immersion programs and locations and how to apply. Preschool registration will begin on April 4 and you can learn more to prepare on our website.

I also want to remind all of our families living in the Fresno High School region that the special election to fill the trustee Area 5 seat is coming up in April. This is to elect a new trustee for the Fresno High region as the seat has been left vacant since trustee Carol Mills’ passing last year. Voters can register until March 28, 2022 for this election. Voter information guides will be mailed out to voters between March 3 and March 14 and vote by mail ballots will be sent out between March 14 and April 5. Early voting begins at the County Clerk’s Office downtown on March 14 and all voting centers, including at Williams Elementary School and Fresno High School, will be open April 9-April 11 from 9 a.m.-5 p.m. and on election day, April 12 from 7 a.m.-8 p.m. Mail in ballots need to be postmarked by April 12 at the latest. If you live in the Fresno High region, please make your voice heard by voting!

As always, our #FUSDFamily can always find the latest information and protocols regarding COVID-19 at www.fresnounified.org/covid19/. El aprendizaje temprano es una de mis principales prioridades como superintendente, ya que sabemos lo increíblemente valiosos que son estos primeros años para el éxito de nuestros estudiantes. La gente a menudo habla de cómo los estudiantes se atrasan una vez en la escuela, cuando en realidad muchos de nuestros estudiantes comienzan el kinder ya muy atrasados porque no tenían acceso a un preescolar y kinder de transición de alta calidad. There’s a saying about reaching across the aisle and extending a hand to help a friend. The same principle applies here, but substitute N Street for any aisle to describe the proximity of the Early Learning Department of Fresno Unified School District (FUSD) and the Early Care and Education (ECE) Department of the Office of the Fresno County Superintendent of Schools (FCSS). Over the past six years, FUSD and FCSS have worked collaboratively on several projects to ensure our youngest learners and their families have access to quality early learning experiences. Two such efforts are The Starting Smart and Strong Initiative and Fresno County Early Stars.

Launched in 2015, the aim of the 10-year Starting Smart and Strong Initiative is to identify universal best practices in early learning to benefit child, parent, caregiver, and educator. This ambitious, multipronged approach includes concentrated work in three California communities, one of which is Fresno. Employing a collaborative approach, FUSD co-designed and implemented this initiative in partnership with FCSS, Central Valley Children’s Services Network, and Fresno Economic Opportunities Commission-Head Start.

One focus area of the initiative is identifying best practices for supporting dual language learners through innovative professional development opportunities for early educators to learn personalized oral language learning strategies via the Language Learning Project. Linking arms with the FUSD Language Learning Project towards this shared goal elevated the importance of preserving all children’s home language(s) in the early years to ensure children have a strong home language foundation at kindergarten entry. The Language Learning Project provided training and technical assistance for teachers at the Lighthouse for Children Child Development Center, which is operated by FCSS-ECE in partnership with First 5 Fresno County. The Lighthouse for Children serves as a demonstration site that opened its doors to others wanting to implement personalized oral language learning strategies in their respective districts. It was quickly recognized as a destination for viewing the theory in practice.

FCSS is also collaborating with FUSD and other community partners to align coaching efforts for early care and education professionals. The goal is to create a systematic effort to coach teachers towards higher quality implementation, leading to better outcomes for young children. This strength-based approach is operationalized by the work of the Fresno County Early Stars Program, a county wide quality improvement initiative that supports early learning environments towards continuous quality improvement. The collaboration is aimed towards aligning the districts’ coaching efforts with the Early Stars rating matrix. Fresno Unified’s early learning coaches, along with coaches from a variety of agencies countywide, are equipped with the tools needed to support teachers and paraprofessionals in the district’s early learning classrooms. This could be training to fidelity on any of several evaluative tools used in an early learning classroom, participation in a community of practice, or training to address a specific need or gap.

The Early Care and Education Department of the Office of the Fresno County Superintendent of Schools looks forward to our continued partnership with the Early Learning Department of Fresno Unified. Together, we are working towards increasing school readiness, a well-documented and researched solution to children exiting high school with a diploma in hand, choices for their future and a higher likelihood of self-sufficiency. When this goal is achieved, the entirety of the county reaps the benefits.

Message from Matilda T. Soria, Ed.D., Senior Director, Early Care and Education, Office of Fresno County Superintendent of Schools

Fresno Unified Expands Inclusion Classrooms for Preschool

The district has significantly increased inclusion opportunities for preschool students to receive special education services in the general education setting.

This aligns with the district’s belief that each child is a general education student first. Each student who receives special education services should be served in the least restrictive environment with access to the best instruction in the Common Core State Standards.

Prior to the 2019-20 school year, the district had one inclusion preschool class through a FUSD and Fresno State partnership. Sixteen district preschool classrooms now offer one of two models of inclusion, in addition to the Fresno State partnership.

The district increased its inclusion preschool classrooms through a $10 million grant from the California Department of Education through the Inclusive Early Education Expansion Program.

The grant was used for facilities, adaptive materials and equipment and professional development for teachers. Funding supports the expansion of inclusive settings for children 0-5 years and has increased collaboration between the Early Learning and Special Education departments.

“This is such an important opportunity for our district’s young learners to have opportunities in the least restrictive environment amongst like peers,” said Leah Diaz, project manager in the preschool office.

Connection to District Goals: "We nurture and cultivate the interests, intellect, and leadership of our students by providing an excellent, equitable education in a culturally proficient environment."

Teacher Alex Arenas leads her inclusion preschool class at Holland Elementary School. Arenas partners with teacher Angela Cruz in the co-teach model of including students receiving special education services in the general education setting. The model is in its third year at Holland.

Learning Centers Support Family, Friend and Neighbor Caregivers

Extended family members, friends and neighbors play a pivotal role in providing childcare for families in the Fresno Unified community.

The district understands the necessity and importance of family, friends and neighbors (FFN) as caregivers, and their impact in the community. These caregivers, however, often do not have access to resources and supports. To help fill this void, Fresno Unified has established Play and Learn Centers.

The centers reflect the district’s commitment to serve all children in the community, including those who may not yet be connected to formal early learning and care settings. The Play and Learn Centers create opportunities for Fresno Unified to ensure that all children in the community are valued and empowered to achieve their greatest potential.

The Play and Learn Centers provide a setting for FFN caregivers to come together to interact with the children in their care. in a planned learning environment. Through the Play and Learn Centers, FFN caregivers have access to tools and resources that support the development of the young children they are caring for.

The centers offer play and learn groups, parent and caregiver workshops and toy and book lending libraries. They are free and open to anyone, including parents and caregivers caring for children of all abilities ages 6 weeks to 5 years.

The district’s first Play and Learn Center opened in the restored Helm Home in November 2016. As understanding has grown around the key role of FFN caregivers in the lives of young children and families in the community, the district added two more locations: Storey Elementary School and Lori Ann Infant Center.

Play and Learn Center sessions are offered weekly, with district facilitators helping FFN caregivers connect with community resources and transition to formal early learning settings in Fresno Unified programs. The facilitators also help implement universal developmental screenings and connect caregivers to services for children with special needs.

“Work with FFN caregivers through the centers has had a highly positive impact on our community, showing promising results in increasing the quality of adult and child interactions in a highly underserved area,” said Maria Ceballos, director in the Early Learning Department. “Fresno Unified’s work with FFN caregivers is essential in supporting the development of all young children in our community.”

Connection to District Goals: “Fresno Unified School District – Where students, families, and staff are valued and empowered to achieve their greatest potential.”

Early Learning Educators Support Dual Language Acquisition

Fresno Unified is leading the way in helping students acquire two languages and is seen as a bilingualism model throughout the state.

A key reason for this is the Language Learning Project (LLP), launched in 2015 as part of a David and Lucile Packard Foundation grant. Since then, the district has collaborated with multiple agencies in the community on how to best support young dual language learners and their families.

The fundamental goal of the LLP is to better equip early childhood educators to support dual language acquisition – ensuring that students maintain their home language while acquiring English.

The district has also partnered with nationally renowned dual language learner experts to provide professional development training for early learning educators focused on personalized oral language learning (POLL) strategies.

The POLL strategies are based on the understanding that all early childhood educators cannot instruct in all languages, but they can support all languages of their children and families.

POLL strategies are innovative practices for supporting language learning that are not based on any one curriculum, age group, or learning setting, but instead enhance what teachers are already doing with a focus on intentionality, repetition and strategic planning.

POLL strategies focus on family supports, environmental supports and instructional supports.

- Family supports: Early learning educators emphasize families’ invaluable role in their child’s learning, spending time getting to know the family and their language goals for their child.
- Environmental support: Teachers create an environment conducive to learning by selecting materials that are engaging and interactive and that support learning in all languages.
- Instructional supports: Teachers strategically plan opportunities for oral language development through an integrated approach, utilizing strategies like songs and chants and visuals to help children make meaning and form connections between home language and English.

A common sentiment among teachers who have participated in the LLP is that POLL strategies become integral to their approach to teaching. While created to support dual language acquisition for young learners, POLL strategies are intentional practices that support all children in all settings.

The work of the LLP has expanded far beyond the Fresno community. With additional funding, Fresno Unified’s Early Learning Department is able to provide a toolkit for implementing the project and training of trainers for programs throughout California.

“The continued statewide interest in the project is a testament to the LLP’s positive impact on early childhood educators, and young dual language learners and their families. Through the ongoing impactful work in the LLP, Fresno Unified is leading the way in supporting bilingualism for our youngest learners,” said Maria Ceballos, director in the Early Learning Department.

Certificated High School Winner
Liz Torres
Nurse at Rata High School working as the interim manager for Health Services

Liz Torres, a registered nurse, has been serving as interim manager for the Health Services Department since September to provide much needed support for a department inundated with new tasks because of COVID-19. Torres oversees scheduling, ensuring that all sites are able to provide the proper care for students. Students with complex medical needs are attending school in greater numbers than ever before, making it essential that highly trained staff are available on campuses. Her years working with some of the district’s most medically fragile students gives her a deep understanding of students’ needs.

Torres began working for the district in 2017 at Powers-Ginsburg Elementary School, followed by Rata High School before becoming interim manager last fall. She is married with a daughter, a teacher at Del Mar Elementary School, and a son who will graduate from the Air Force Academy in May. Torres loves to read, travel to historical places and spend time with family. She said her reaction to being named the Excellence in Education winner in the high school certificated category was “disbelief.”

Nurse Robyn Harvey: “Not content to sit back and point out the deficits, she wanted to be part of the solution. She stepped into a new role because she knew that her expertise was needed and would make school safer for students and nurses.”

Torres: “Every single kid is so unique; we need to meet them where they are at.”
Liz Torres, a nurse, learned on Feb. 14 at the Health Services Department that she has been selected as the Excellence in Education winner in the certificated high school category.

Certificated Elementary Winner
Isabel Mayoral
Wilson Elementary School

Isabel Mayoral, a teacher on special assignment, starts her day at Wilson Elementary School with heart-to-heart talks with numerous students before they walk to their classrooms. She believes that showing love and acceptance to students is the foundation for academic progress. She herself is a voracious learner, constantly honing her teaching skills and understanding of how students learn so that she can share this information with colleagues. In 2020, Mayoral launched her own YouTube program, "The Book Adventure with Mrs. Mayoral."

Mayoral began working for Fresno Unified in 2016 and is in her second year at Wilson. She is married with two adult daughters. Her oldest daughter is also a teacher at Wilson. Mayoral’s favorite hobby is reading college textbooks on teaching practices. She also enjoys spending time with her family, including Bible journaling together.

She said being named an Excellence in Education winner was a thrilling moment: “There are no words to effectively and wholly communicate the plethora of emotions that flooded my entire senses upon seeing and hearing Superintendent Nelson wonderfully boom out that I had been named the Excellence in Education winner. I did not know whether to cry or laugh so I did both…”

Wilson Principal Meegan Grant: “When I think of a person whose passion is their job, it’s Isabel. She is always rolling up her sleeves to best support teachers, students and parents at Wilson. There is no job she will turn away from if it’s about creating the best environment for kids."

Mayoral: “I believe I am a missionary of student learning.”
Isabel Mayoral, a teacher on special assignment at Wilson Elementary School, is shocked to learn on Feb. 14 that she is the certificated elementary school winner for Excellence in Education.

Classified Employee Winner

Dawn Gardner is the office manager for the J.E. Young Academic Center and Alternative Education Department. She said she loves laughing with close friends, spending time with family and reading a good book. She said she was “humbled and speechless” at being named the classified winner.

Alternative education administrator Yolanda Jimenez-Ruiz: “There are few … as committed, flexible and charismatic as Dawn. She moves into the uncomfortable spaces with grace. She is a leader who is trusted and shares her knowledge with all.”

Gardner: “It’s about making them understand their greatest potential – the students and the parents. We are teaching students how to be better citizens and better human beings.”
Dawn Gardner received a swag bag and balloons during a surprise visit Feb. 14 to let her know she is the classified employee Excellence in Education winner.

Roosevelth Health Path-way Students take part in Mock Heart Surgery

Juniors in Jean Nakaguchi’s Physiology Health pathway class at Roosevelt High School were able to experience a live open-heart surgery via streaming from a Chicago hospital, and ask questions of the surgery team members. Students then conducted mock heart surgeries in class.

King Elementary Principal Honored by City Council

The Fresno City Council and Mayor Jerry Dyer proclaimed Feb. 17 “Summer Gaston-Gehris Day” in honor of the King Elementary School principal’s longtime service to the district and community. Gaston-Gehris was recognized for her 22 years as a Fresno Unified educator, continuing the legacy of several generations of Gastons serving in the district. She was also honored for her work championing African American youth, including being a Black Student Union advisor.

Information Technology Leader Named a Top Dog

Phil Neufeld, executive officer in the Information Technology Department, has been named an Outstanding Alumni for Fresno State’s Top Dog awards. Neufeld was honored from the Division of Research and Graduate Studies. The honorees will be celebrated with a one-hour television special on ABC30 at 7 p.m. on May 1.

Fresno Unified is one of the early proponents of a new Seal of Civic Engagement for students, encouraging service to others, having a voice in the decision-making process, and becoming problem solvers in their community.

The seal is affixed to students’ diplomas.

The California Board of Education approved the Seal of Civic Engagement in September 2020, making California just the fifth state to implement a civic learning diploma program. To earn the seal, students must:

■ Be on track to graduate
■ Demonstrate an understanding of the United States Constitution, the California Constitution, and the American democratic system
■ Undertake a civic engagement project on a real-world issue, including research, a plan to address the problem or raise awareness of it, engage with decision-makers and reflect on the process

“The Seal of Civic Engagement could not have greater relevancy than it does now, in our current reality as a community, a nation and in the world,” said Superintendent Bob Nelson. “Through students’ work toward this seal, and in other efforts in our district, students are learning to advocate in productive ways.”

Fresno Unified and six other districts’ inaugural efforts to encourage students to pursue the Seal of Civic Engagement were profiled in a study looking at Year 1 of the seal. The study identified Fresno High as the “epicenter” of civic learning in the district. Fresno High is an International Baccalaureate Programme school that places a high value on service learning and community projects.

High schools across the district are working on implementing the guidelines for the Seal of Civic Engagement.

Connection to District Goals: "Increase student engagement in their school and community."

Bullard Cultivates Student’s Interests, Including Gardening

Sophomore Vartan Frnzlyan keeps busy with his classes at Bullard High School, playing on the Special Olympics basketball team and helping create and maintain a garden outside his classroom.

Vartan, 16, is part of the Alternative Learning Pathways (ALPs) program at Bullard. ALPs is among the range of services provided to students receiving support from Special Education. Along with academic subjects, students in ALPs learn life skills, including cooking and doing laundry. Schools across the district have ALPs programs.

The district has a strong focus on inclusion, believing that each child is a general education student first. To realize this vision, each student who receives special education services should be served in the least restrictive environment with access to the best first instruction in the Common Core State Standards.

Vartan said he enjoys his ceramics class, which he takes alongside students in general education. Cars are his favorite ceramic pieces that he has created.

His passion, however, is playing basketball. On Feb. 11 during a Special Olympics basketball tournament at Bullard, he scored eight points, with his sister and parents there to watch. He said his favorite part about basketball is “shooting baskets.”

Vartan is also part of a group of students, led by special education teacher Patrick Gerrits, who has created a flower garden outside the Southwest Academic Building. He enjoyed leveling the soil to prepare for planting and now has some favorite rose varieties – Big Momma, All American Magic, Smokin’ Hot and Doris Day.

“He really enjoys working in our garden at school and he is eager to help, even on the weekends,” Gerrits said.
“Vartan has a great personality. He likes school and does his best in everything that he does. He is well liked by staff and his peers. He is always ready to help with jobs in the classroom.”

Connection to District Goals: "We nurture and cultivate the interests, intellect, and leadership or our students by providing an excellent, equitable education in a culturally proficient environment."

Vartan Frnzlyan has helped with a garden project at Bullard High School, even on the weekends.

Bullard TALENT Student in Local TV Commercial

Bullard TALENT K-8 School third grader Vincent Lai is featured in a TV commercial for Patrick’s Music. Although the commercial humorously features him selecting a tuba, Vincent actually plays the piano and has participated in school talent shows.

Mayor Reads at Addams Elementary School

Fresno Mayor Jerry Dyer read to a class of third grade students at Addams Elementary School on Feb. 22 in anticipation of Read Across America Day, an annual celebration to encourage children to read. Read Across America Day is March 2. March is also National Reading Month. The mayor is with Addams Principal Beth Doyle and third grade students.

Bullard High School has two new projects that are promoting inclusion for students of all abilities.

Special education teachers Kelsey Dizney and Shamara Garcia brainstormed with students across campus and decided to form Teaching*Learning*Community (TLC). The group’s first project is a coffee cart club, staffed by students with and without disabilities, offering drinks, sweets and snacks to teachers across campus.

Students are gaining experience in marketing, budgeting and money management, customer service, advertising, social and other critical business skills required in local and global business.

Also at Bullard, special education teacher Patrick Gerrits led students in his Alternative Learning Pathways (ALPs) program in creating a beautiful garden in front of the school’s Southwest Academic Building.

They then challenged clubs on campus to take on other planters on campus in need of reviving. Clubs and athletic teams have adopted nine areas they have agreed to beautify and maintain. Each club or group will be recognized with a sign in their planter promoting their club and fostering school pride and student ownership of their campus.

Home Depot, Gazebo Gardens and Lowes have donated plants to the project, and Riverside Nursery provides a 25% discount.

The ALPs students took on the garden project as part of their employability class, known on campus as Knightworks. As part of the class, students adopt various jobs around campus, including working in the main office, landscaping, doing laundry and food preparation.

Gerrits said the planter project has been a big success, and fostered inclusion.

“It’s exciting. It’s life-changing. It’s getting students involved and taking ownership of their campus,” Gerrits said.

Senior Simon Bellar delivers coffee to paraprofessional Michelle Sharpe on Feb. 25. Teaching*Learning*Community is a new group at Bullard High School for students of all abilities. It sells drinks, sweets and snacks to teachers from a coffee cart.

Students from the Blue Nation Student Store work on the planting area at Bullard High School they have adopted on a recent Saturday morning. Teacher Peter Chaney is seated near the center.
No Strings Attached: Just Beautiful Music

Jaden Joven, left, and Isaias Rivera from Terronez Middle School are among the 250 musicians who gathered on Feb. 8 for the Sunnyside Regional String Day at the Sunnyside High School gym. String players from all 11 schools in the Sunnyside region came together for practice and then a performance. The event is a way to promote regional pride and encourage younger students to continue pursuing music through orchestra, all the way through high school.

District Students in Documentary

A Fresno Unified family revisiting their roots in Oaxaca is featured in the new documentary, “Oaxacalifornia: The Return.” Third-grader Arianna Miguel, Bullard TALENT K-8 School, and senior Nicolette Miguel, Roosevelt High School, are members of the Mejia family chronicled in the documentary, which premiered at the New York Latino Film Festival in 2021. The director is working with Arte Americas on a Fresno premier this spring.

The 90-minute documentary explores the lives of a family of Mexican immigrants living in Fresno. It is a follow-up to the 1994 “Oaxacalifornia” about the Mejia family from the Mixteca, Oaxaca. “Oaxacalifornia: The Return" introduces the Mejias 23 years later.

The district has been awarded a $2 million K12 Strong Workforce Program grant to improve equity and access for disproportionately impacted students in CTE pathways.

Career Readiness director Kristen Boroski, who led the work on the district’s application, said the funding would be used to increase industry-recognized certifications for students, to provide more internships and work-based learning, boost the number of non-traditional student representation in high need industry sectors, and increase the number of students taking college courses while still in high school.

Funding will also be used to further market the high quality CTE opportunities available to students.

The award comes from the California Community Colleges Chancellor’s Office, Division of Workforce and Economic Development, in partnership with the California Department of Education.

The district was also awarded a CTE Incentive Grant of $3.86 million. The funds are used to developed new CTE programs and strengthen existing CTE programs in alignment to the California CTE Model Curriculum Standards.

Funds are also utilized to develop quality career exploration and guidance so that students are better prepared to make career and post-secondary decisions. College and Career Readiness Department looks forward to expanding industry-recognized certifications from the 8,310 earned in the 2020-21 school year.
