McLane High School’s Dual Language Immersion Program and World Languages Department will host the 24th World Languages Fair. The fair brings together middle and high school students studying languages and in English learner programs for a variety of language rich activities, competitions and sporting events. The fair will feature cultural performances, including folklorico, mariachi, flamenco, K-pop and Hmong and Polynesian dance; salsa lessons; a grito mexicano competition; and a poetry slam between Fresno City College and Roosevelt High School. The fair is sponsored by the Central Valley World Language Association.

Local leaders, including Deputy Superintendent Misty Her, will welcome participants and the community at the opening ceremony.
“The World Languages Fair is a wonderful opportunity to celebrate the diversity of our students and all of their hard work in the study of languages. It’s one of the many ways that our staff helps carry out one of our district goals – to increase students’ engagement in their school and community,” said Superintendent Bob Nelson.
